Examine the ranking diagram in (8) on p. 73 of the McCarthy (2002) reading, and compare it with the evidence adduced in the tableaux in (5)-(7). You should find a mistake in (8); specifically, a ranking between two constraints that is justified somewhere in (5)-(7) but that is not indicated in (8). Identify that mistake, and compare the resulting ranking diagram with the one that we came up with in our final analysis of English past tense allomorphy. What essential similarities (if any) do you see between these two ranking diagrams? (Hint: it will help to explicitly distinguish McCarthy’s markedness constraints from his faithfulness constraints, in the same way that we’ve done for the constraints in our analysis of English.) Also: what essential similarities (if any) do you see between the tableaux in (5)-(7) and the tableaux in our analysis of English?